

Boo Boo Bunny

MATERIALS NEEDED:

1 Wash Cloth - any color
1 Medium rubber band
2 wiggly eyes
1 small pom pon
1 medium pom pon
15" ribbon to match
wash cloth
Craft Glue

Another option: Use black puffy paint or a black sharpie pen instead of wiggly eyes and pom pons.

1. Place the washcloth on a flat surface and evenly roll up two diagonally opposite corners until they reach the middle.
2. Fold the rolled washcloth in half.
3. Fold the washcloth in half again and wrap a rubber band around the second fold so that the fabric inside the rubber band looks like a head.
4. Straighten out the two loose ends so they look like ears on the top of the bunny's head.
5. Slightly open the fabric that looks like the body of the bunny so that it will hold an ice cube.
6. Place eyes, nose, and a tail on the bunny using age-appropriate materials, such as a felt marker, puffy paint, or small pom pons.
7. Tie the ribbon around the bunny's neck to cover the rubber band and the bunny is finished!

Note to Parent: A parent should monitor the use of the "Boo Boo Bunny" at all times if it is going to be used with small children. The rubber band and other detachable parts are choking hazards.

Designed with a hole in the center, the bunny slips onto a finger tip for an instant puppet show, or you can pop it over an ice cube to help soothe an unexpected bump or scratch.
